Great Britain Increases Vigilance Around the Suez Canal; Capitals Are Excited.

Premier Laval of France held three conversations with the British and Italian ambassadors in Paris during which he endeavored to have Premier Mussolini's venture established as a colonial expedition. French officials said there was progress in preparations for treating the issue at the forthcoming League of Nations council session at Geneva.

Dr. P. Munch, foreign minister of Denmark, arriving at Oslo, Norway, for a meeting of Scandinavian ministers, declared the issue in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict to be "entirely in the hands of the big powers," leaving the smaller ones to try to influence general opinion.

Cairo police arranged for a cordon of hundreds of uniformed and plainclothes officers to protect Il Duce's two sons, Vittorio and Bruno, when they arrived at Port Said en route to East Africa with the Italian military force.

Great Britain, stirred by reports to the effect that Italy would stage a counter review in the Mediterranean, increased its vigilance around the Suez Canal. The reports also excited the Italian capital.

Calculating the drift abroad of Italian gold, French financiers nevertheless estimated Premier Mussolini could finance an eight-months' war against Ethiopia.

Il Duce smiled upon British and French military missions and newspapermen at Bolzano, where he prepared to hold a cabinet meeting, inviting them to accompany him on an inspection of the war maneuvers there.

In Ethiopia, natives by the thousands and hundreds of thousands of Addis Ababa toward the comparative safety of interior villages. Meanwhile, the state department in Washington denied it considered sending troops to guard the American legation at Addis Ababa.

Reports reached Addis Ababa, from Massawa, Eritrea, that 15 Italian, British subjects, had been arrested by the Italian authorities on charges of discouraging shipping.

Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht reported Norway was ready to support Great Britain in applying sanctions against Italy to prevent war.

Dr. Wilhelm Frick, Germany's minister of interior, was quoted in a Westphalian Nazi newspaper as expressing "very great appreciation" of Italy's colonial position.

Bertrand Russell, in Petersburg, England, remarked the United States was wise in declaring itself neutral.

TONY LAURENTIS PROVED ABILITY TO CONSUME FOOD.

Philadelphia, Aug. 27 (AP)—Tony Laurentis, barber, consumed more than 20 pounds of food and drink for dinner last night.

A restaurant owner furnished the meal—enough for a small orphanage—and Tony did all the eating.

Tony is the same barber who ate 240 apples in an hour and 56 minutes some time ago.

Frank Palumbo, his host last night, invited newspapermen and various doubting Thomases to watch.

The barber cleared his throat with a gallon of wine.

Then, refreshed, he ate four pounds of spaghetti with tomato sauce and cheese.

There followed, in steady succession: Twelve spring chickens, two large sirloin steaks, a meat roast and a gallon of beer as a chaser.

A scales showed he had gained 20 pounds at the sitting.

Murder Charges Filed.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27 (AP)—Murder charges were filed today against James J. Westwood, justice of the peace in the suburban community of McKees Rocks, and his close friend, Constable Tim Drexler, in connection with the mysterious killing of Westwood's wife more than six weeks ago. They were locked up in the county jail early this morning after an alibi was ruled from them.

On the commitments, Mrs. Martha Westwood, 36, mother of three children, was slain, as she slept, by a killer who poked a pistol through her bedroom window and fired three bullets into her head.

Westwood, Aug. 27 (AP)—The portion of the Treasury on August 26 was: Receipts, $6,745,532.46; expenditures, $11,742,393.24; balance, $20,063,873.57. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $528,715,131.03; expenditures, $1,132,531,212.01, including $12,812,538.27 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $343,794,076.98; gross debt, $22,051,643,624.78, a decrease of $3,832,454.00 under the previous day; gold assets, $3,135,271,233.22.

Bertrand Russell Says U.S. Wise to Determine Stand for Neutrality

By BERTRAND RUSSELL (Philosopher, Scientist and Author) (Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)

Telegraph House, Harting, Petersburg, England, Aug. 27 (AP) I think America is wise in determining on neutrality. If I were an American I would support the measures which have been before Congress with a view toward securing the nonparticipation of America in European quarrels.

I should, in fact, wish to see England adopting a similar policy. I think it will be possible for America to remain neutral providing no munitions are supplied to either side and other provisions of the recent neutrality resolution are rigidly enforced.

At this stage of the world's history, when war is likely to destroy civilization and all the European powers that engage in it, neutrality appears to me imperative to the interests of civilization.

I have hoped that the campaign in Ethiopia may prove so burdensome and unpopular as to cause the downfall of Mussolini which would prove the beginning of a better state of affairs in Europe whereas the probable effect of a war against Fascism will spread Fascism to countries now free from it or alternatively collapse all orderly government.

On these grounds I hold that the British government is wise in moving toward, since in my mind the most important thing is to avoid a general war.

On one hand, I feel, of course, that Italy's behavior is totally indefensible. The Italian case has only domestic, a case doesn't exist.

On the other, I don't think it will be possible to stop Italy except through threat, perhaps even the actuality of war.

If there were war on this issue it would very likely become a general war. I do not think Ethiopia is sufficiently important to justify the risk of such an appalling catastrophe. It is said we should at all costs uphold the covenants of the League, but since Germany and Japan are all the League, it has become merely one group of powers in the balance of power.

When in the midst of the League, therefore, is hardly distinguishable from the old balance of power war.

The fourth fatal automobile accident in Westchester county in three days early today cost the life of Miss Carol Brown, 26, of Kerhonkson. Five other persons died in 24 hours in three other accidents since Saturday.

Two of six other persons in the car were seriously hurt when it struck a rock ledge beside the road in Yorktown at 3:30 a. m. as the party was returning to Mount Vernon from Carrara's Inn in Croton.

The heavy machine went off the pavement of Route 129 at a sharp curve near the Dogwood bridge approach and crashed head-on into the ledge.

Miss Brown, her skull fractured and her neck broken, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Her sister Ethel, 24, a Grasslands hospital nurse, suffered a possible skull fracture, and Robert A. Birch, 25, of 316 Egmont avenue, Mount Vernon, proprietor of the recently opened Studio Club in that city, received a fracture of the right wrist and lacerations over the right eye and on the right cheek. Both are in Croton Hospital.

William Norberg Nigley, Jr., 22, of 623 Gramatan avenue, Mount Vernon, owner and driver of the death car, escaped injury. He is a son of the resident manager of the Hotel Astor, Manhattan.

Nigley was arrested by Sergeant Charles La Forge of Troop K, state police, charged with homicide, driving without a license and operating an automobile with improper plates. He was held in $500 bail pending arraignment on the two less serious traffic charges before Judge E. E. Johnson at Croton today.

Action on the homicide count was deferred pending outcome of the survivors' injuries and pending an inquest to be conducted by Medical Examiner Amos O. Squire.

Remnants of Nigley's car who escaped injury are: Edward Paul, 22, of 115 Haven avenue, Mount Vernon; Angelo De Quatre, 23, of 22 First street, North Pelham, an employee of the Studio Club, and Miss Agnes Brown, 21, a Grasslands Hospital nurse and a cousin of the dead girl.

The Misses Carol and Ethel Brown are daughters of William J. Brown of Kerhonkson.

Today Howard B. Hamilton, Kerhonkson undertaker, left for White Plains to return Miss Carol Brown's body to her father's residence.

Federal Government Would Contribute 45 Percent of School Cost

Through a misunderstanding of a statement of facts regarding the amount which the Federal government may contribute toward the construction costs of a Junior High School in Kingston it appeared in the press Monday that the Federal government would contribute 55 per cent of the cost if the application for a grant is approved and that the share of the city taxpayers would be 45 per cent. These figures were transposed and the correct fact is that the Federal government would contribute 45 per cent and the remaining 55 per cent would be raised by local taxpayers.

Under the plan approved by the board, that of constructing a central Junior High School building in the central section of the city, the architect estimates the cost of the building, exclusive of fees and equipment, to be $658,999. This cost is not definite and probably will be considerably altered when final complete plans are made and perhaps some of the present features are eliminated to reduce costs. On a basis of $658,999 the cost of the building to the taxpayers would be $277,499 with the remainder contributed by the Federal government.

However these figures must be added certain additional costs for equipment and other construction costs which will bring the amount to be raised by local taxation around the $400,000 mark.

In figuring the cost of building schools in other towns estimates have been placed slightly above rather than below the actual cost in order to have a basis for asking for a grant sufficiently large so as to insure a restoration of enough Federal money to cover the required amount. The amount allocated to any town however is not to exceed 45 per cent of the actual cost of the construction.

Applications for grants must be made by September first and all applications must be accompanied by a sketch and a plan of the proposed building. However the plan which will be submitted with the application for funds will have to be submitted to the State Education Department for approval as is any other school construction. The plan submitted with the application for Federal funds is therefore of a tentative nature and is subject to revision and alteration before submitted to contractors for bids. The proposed building can be completed in 11 months according to Architect George E. Lowe whose plan has been adopted by the board.

Russian Ambassador Declares That Widespread Anti-Soviet Propaganda Is Permitted in U.S.

By JOHN LLOYD Associated Press Foreign Staff

Moscow, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Soviet government today replied with a rejection of the United States' note protesting against activities of the Seventh Congress of the Third Communist Internationale.

Ambassador William C. Bullitt of the United States received a note from Under-Commissioner N. N. Krestinsky which read:

"Your note of August 25 contains no facts which could be regarded as a violation on the part of the Soviet government of its obligations.

"On the other hand, it is undoubtedly nothing new for the government of the United States that the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics cannot assume and has never assumed any obligations as regards the Communist Internationale."

Krestinsky summed up by saying: "I cannot accept your protest and I am compelled to reject it."

Hint of Tenor of Note.

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The capital waited today to see whether the Russian ambassador's contention that widespread anti-Soviet propaganda is permitted in the United States gave a hint of the tenor of a forthcoming note from Moscow.

In an unofficial comeback to an American note protesting "flagrant violation" of Soviet pledges to prevent certain Communist activities aimed at revolution in this country, Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky said last night:

"Anything said in Moscow by American citizens about the United States is very insignificant compared to the continuous propaganda in the United States against the Soviet Union."

"I have even seen suggestions that our government should somehow stop the activity of American organizations and American citizens in the United States."

"It is obvious that my government will not interfere in the internal affairs of the United States in this or any other matter."

The ambassador made plain that this was not the reply of the Soviet government. That, he said, would come from Moscow.

At one point in his short written statement, Troyanovsky quoted the Bible:

"And why beholdest thou the mote which is in thy brother's eye, but perceivest not the beam that is in thine own eye?"

The statement was given to reporters a short while after Father Edmund J. Walsh charged American Communists recently joined with Josef Stalin and other Soviet leaders in drafting a "detailed plan for the overthrow of the American government."

Father Walsh, a foe of Russian recognition, asserted the plan was framed at the recent Communist International Congress held in Moscow. Walsh based his assertion on reports of the Congress proceedings which he obtained on a recent trip to Europe.

Woodstock Man Jailed

Leroy Ricks, 34, of Woodstock, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $10 by Justice of the Peace Wallace Shultz of the town of Woodstock when Ricks was arraigned before him today on a charge of assault in the third degree.

Complaints against Ricks were lodged by Isaac Whispell, 67, of the town of Woodstock, who claimed Ricks beat him up last night. Ricks was brought to the county jail by Sergeant Cunningham and Trooper Koefe.

No Walker Case

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Justice Department announced today it will not prosecute James J. Walker, self-called former mayor of New York, on income tax charges.

Walker, who was indicted in 1934 on charges of embezzlement, was released from jail in 1935 after serving 18 months.

Ten Billions Spending Marks Historic Session Of Congress, Adjourned

The New Social Security Board to Give Up Plans

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The new social security board was reported in authoritative quarters today to have given up its plans to grant aid to states this year for old age pensions and other parts of the social security program.

This word preceded a White House conference at which President Roosevelt and congressional leaders arranged to canvass how the board could be financed until January.

Loss of the deficiency bill before the filibuster by Senator Long (D-La.) last night left it without funds.

Arthur A. Hays Sulzberger, the only member of the board in Washington today also was to see the President.

Attorney General Cummings was studying whether it would be local to use some of the $1,000,000,000 relief fund temporarily to fill gaps left by failure of the appropriation.

If it is found relief funds are not available, the board may start work with labor and commerce department funds, with employees going on the payrolls of those departments.

Long, Furious, Shouts 'Conspiracy,' Demands House Vote on Loans

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Roosevelt leaders and Senator Long (D-La.) pointed accusing fingers at each other today in the aftermath of a raging, 5 1/2 hour filibuster in which Long talked to defeat a $102,000,000 measure carrying funds for major New Deal measures.

The administration men contended Long had beaten a bill carrying funds for the "aged and crippled" to be covered by the social security program. Long's argument was that Roosevelt forces engaged in a "conspiracy" to discard amendments calling for 12-cent loans on cotton and 90-cent loans on wheat.

Yelling "I won't surrender," furiously running fingers through his hair, Long withstood pleas and taunts of friends and foe last night to talk until automatic adjournment at midnight ended all chances for the $102,000,000 deficiency appropriation.

Long kept demanding that the House be given a chance to vote on 12 and 90-cent loans. Today some Senators read into his filibuster a bid for the support of agriculture in the event Long makes an active campaign for the presidency next year.

Long called the administration's compromise announcement of ten-cent-a-pound loans on cotton a "conspiracy" to send Congress home without voting on the higher crop loans provided by riders attached to the deficiency bill.

The riders calling for 12-cent cotton loans and 90-cent wheat loans were tacked on in the Senate, but the House had not voted on them.

Yesterday the Senate sought to reconsider the bill and eliminate the amendments after the AAA had announced a 10-cent-loan-plus-subsidy plan for cotton. Long contended the House was being denied a chance to vote first.

With automatic adjournment fixed for midnight, Senators pleaded with Long to take his seat but all to no avail. Finally Senator Black (D-Ala.), Schwellenbach (D-Wash.), Bone (D-Wash.) and Winton (D-Ind.) launched an attack on him.

Black charged that Long was "deliberately killing this bill carrying funds for the aged and crippled by his filibuster."

"No, I ain't," Long replied. "Schwellenbach repeatedly accused the Louisiana of shoving off before the crowded galleries."

"I will stand on my own feet and my own judgment," Long reported, ignoring the taunts.

Told that railroad workers and organized labor would turn against him because the bill carried funds for rail pensions and the Guafey coal control plan, Long charged:

"The people will approve. I have never done anything in the Senate that was not popular."

Emergency Measure Only

Berlin, Aug. 27 (AP)—Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick spoke today in a speech in which he declared Germany's sterilization law was only an emergency measure to banish an acute, immediate danger. What Germany is really doing, he said, is a social policy for insuring that members of the German society, he declared, it was up to the state to shoulder the economic burden of healthy children when parents were unable to do so.

Should Be Rejected

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Clyde H. Haynes, secretary of the American Liberty League, issued a statement today saying adjournment of Congress "should assure a return to the country." The statement contrasted "illegal acceptance of unconstitutional, extra-legal executive dictation."

During the heat of the Long filibuster last night, the Louisiana Democrat pointed to assertions that the Roosevelt administration could get the money from the $1,000,000,000 work relief fund.

Senator Schwellenbach (D-Ark.) said that Congress should not be asked to vote down American adherence to the world court despite administration efforts.

Long's Spending

All in all, expenditures authorized during the session totaled some $10,250,000,000.

There was some uncertainty today about the financing of social security and other measures during the interim until Congress meets again next January.

Filibuster by Long Kills $102,000,000 Measure To Carry Major Bills

Huey's 5 1/2 Hour Tirade in Senate Prompted by Desire for 12-cent Cotton and 90-cent Wheat Loan Amendment.

HOPES OF MILLIONS

Senator Schwellenbach Says Desire for Publicity Killed Aspirations of Millions of People.

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Turbulent and tense to the very last instant of its strife-torn first session, the 74th Congress headed homeward today leaving anxious Roosevelt leaders seeking ways to obtain millions in funds cut off by a 5 1/2 hour filibuster by Senator Long (D-La.).

Talking on despite taunts, gibes and earnest pleas, Long held the Senate floor until the stroke of midnight last night, and thus succeeded in blocking the $102,000,000 third deficiency bill carrying funds to start the New Deal's giant social security program, utilities regulation, the Guafey coal control bill, the new neutrality plan and other major measures.

Declaring he wanted action on 12-cent cotton and 90-cent wheat loan amendments which were abandoned when the AAA announced a compromise 10-cent-loan-plus-subsidy program for cotton, Long was the center of a highly dramatic scene an instant before midnight, as gay crowds in galleries held their breaths.

Long at that point was droning on in a leisurely manner reading from an old number of the congressional record. Previously he had shouted "I won't surrender" as administration leaders sought to get him to desist.

Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash.), who argued that Long was blocking funds for the aged and crippled, arose to point an accusing finger at the Louisiana senator and say:

"It is now a minute before midnight. I ask whether or not because of his selfish desire for publicity, the senator from Louisiana hasn't defeated the hopes, the aspirations, and the desires of millions of people."

Before Long could yell his oft-repeated "that ain't so," the big clock's hand moved to 12 and Vice President Garner's gavel cracked.

"The Senate is adjourned sine die," the vice president proclaimed. (The two houses, hours earlier, had passed resolutions for automatic adjournment at midnight.)

The galleries, silent a minute before Garner's gavel fell, burst into a roar. Senator Long walked out of the chamber, alone.

Highlight Longest Congress Since 1922

By WILLIAM S. WHITE.

Washington, August 26. — The president of the United States, his shoulders squared, stands before the congress and says "no" to the soldiers' bonus.

Senators have trooped over from their side of the capitol to sit with the representatives to hear the message. There is a touch of the gala in the atmosphere, as the spring sun strikes lights in the gay dresses of the women, but the President's usually mobile face is still with solemnity. History is being made here in the old hall of the house of representatives. It is the first time that a chief executive of this country has gone personally to capitol hill to deliver a veto verbatim—and in the face of big majorities in both houses.

Big Scene Of Session.

This unprecedented scene, going back to a sunny day last May was the dramatic highlight of the long, weary first session of the 74th congress, now ended.

The President, erect behind the clerk's desk in the well of the house, finishes his address.

"I am thinking," he says, "of those who died in the cause of America here and abroad. I am thinking of the widows and orphans of all of them; I am thinking of the millions of Americans who with their families are today in dire need. I am thinking not only of the past, not only of today, but of the years to come. I believe the welfare of the nation, as well as the future welfare of the veterans, wholly justifies my disapproval of this measure."

There is applause, not thunderous, and Mr. Roosevelt has not left the building before there are shouts of "Vote, Vote!" Overwhelmingly, the house overrides the veto, but the senate later sustains it.

A Memorable Protest.

The scene changes to the senate, on May 20, Dennis Chavez, senator from New Mexico succeeding the late Bronson Cutting, is escorted into the chamber to take the oath. As he comes down the aisle on the arm of his colleague, Senator Hatch, five senate liberals, their faces white, their eyes moist, leave the chamber one by one. White-haired and benign, Johnson of California and fatherly Norris of Nebraska led the way. Next North Dakota, LaFollette of Wisconsin and Shipstead of Minnesota follow. The veteran Borah of Idaho already has absented himself. It was a silent but startling protest against the earlier efforts of the administration to defeat Cutting.

Back to the house, which left President Roosevelt on two notable issues—the bonus and the measure for dissolution of "unnecessary" utility holding companies—for another great moment. In a session now closed. A vote is coming on the President's demand for dissolution. There are strong undercurrents.

Among The Highlights Of Senate And House Activities

President Roosevelt made history when he personally delivered his veto on the bonus bill before a joint session of the house and senate. He is shown above returning the bill to Speaker Byrnes. Vice-President Garner is seen standing also. Below, left, the senate committee in the sensational utilities lobby investigation; left to right, Senators Black, chairman; Schwelbensch (standing) Long was among those caught in the "write or wire your congressman" epidemic.

The ballot is taken by "tellers." First come those favoring dissolution. They pass in a confused, wavering line down an aisle between two members who tap them, count them one by one. It appears early that a much bigger line is forming to go through the tellers later in opposition to the bill. Then tail Speaker Byrnes, who doesn't have to vote, hits the trail in behalf of the administration. Administration men strike up applause, some shout and whistle. The oppositionists walk on, unimpressed. The President loses in the vote.

Toward Permanent Laws.

It was a session of sharp issues.

of flaring investigations, and the longest since the second session of the 67th congress, which closed September 22, 1922, after 292 days. Bills introduced went well above 12,000, but above and beyond stood the central theme of recovery and reform. The great measures of the session—banking, social security, wealth tax, the heart of the Roosevelt plan for a changed social order. Save for the four-billion-dollar work-relief bill, nearly every major proposal was toward permanent legislation, whereas before emergency action had been the chief goal.

It was a session, too, of "write or wire your congressman," without known parallel. Before the senate's vote refusing American adherence to the world court, messenger boys staggered under piles of telegrams estimated to have totaled more than 40,000 as a result of radio appeals for and against the court. Toward the close, adjournment was the center of conversation among members themselves. A few "played hooky." Most wanted to go home. Privately, they complained that the country was tiring of them. They wanted to get away, to build political fences, to see old friends. But most of all—tired, sometimes angry and befuddled and not physically up to standard—they wanted only to rest.

Historic Session of Congress Adjourned with "deliberately killing" a bill "carrying funds for the aged and crippled."

As the fury of debate subsided, however, other leaders indicated a belief that sufficient money could be found. Chairman Buchanan (D., Tex.) of the House appropriations committee, said the President could finance "everything necessary between now and January" through executive orders.

To this, Rep. Taylor (D., Colo.), the acting Democratic floor leader, added:

"The President told a bunch of us down at the White House this morning, and I suppose it's no secret that he could take care of things even if the deficiency bill didn't pass."

Congress plunged into its last night's session with warnings from administration leaders that, under the Constitution, the President can adjourn Congress himself if the two houses disagreed on an adjournment. It was disclosed that this possibility had been discussed at a White House conference, though the executive office emphasized the President was making no threat.

"Once Leader Robinson, angered by Long's filibuster, shouted: 'I am unwilling for the Congress to incur the liability of being sent home by the order of the Chief Executive.'"

As the situation stands, the deficiency bill, with the Senate cotton-wool loan amendments which the Senate added, lies over to next session.

Complete List of 4-H Winners at the Ulster County Fair

The names of more than 150 Ulster County 4-H Club members are included in the complete list of winners in the 4-H Department at the Ulster County Fair held last week.

Sarah Boice and Marjorie Morehouse of Lake Katrine won the difficult "Sis for $1.50 Dinner Demonstration Contest". This contest was made possible by the cooperation of Stock and Cordts who furnished a kerosene, Electrolux Refrigerator and tables, and the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company which furnished two electric stoves. Mrs. Ernest E. Althouse and Miss Ruth Nelson of the Gas and Electric Company acted as judges.

The three teams winning second places were: Kaarin Tervo, and Ruth Helin, Rifton; Lesley March, and Roberta Smith, Big Indian; Catherine Knoll and Agnes Cafaro, Ulster Park. Four teams received third awards: Betty Cruickshank, Marjorie Whipple, Big Indian; Kathryn Ambrose and Ethel Eckert, Rifton; Laura Davis and Edna Oakley, Olive Bridge; and Fanny and Naomi Sears, Milton.

The coveted trip to National Club Congress at Chicago was awarded to Franklin Kelder of Accord who has finished seven years as a 4-H member, and leader. He will represent Ulster county in this National event which is held the first week in December. Marjorie Morehouse was named first alternate and Wesley Smith, Saugerties, was second alternate.

Each year four delegates are chosen to attend State Fair for a week with all expenses paid. The four chosen because of outstanding records in all phases of 4-H work were: Naomi and Howard Limbacher, of Sawkill; Sarah Boice, Lake Katrine, and Ward Tice, Spring Glen. Alternates were Julius Eckert, Rifton, and Mabel Story, Ulster Park.

Each year two health delegates are chosen to compete in the State contest held at State Fair. Geraldine Enlist, Lake Katrine, and Victor Wood, South Flatbush, will represent the county this year.

In the Style Review the winners chosen to represent the County at the State Fair were Naomi Limbacher, Geraldine Enlist, Ruth Helin, Rifton, and Gertrude Schaffner, Lake Katrine.

A special award in dairy judging provides the money to cover the expenses of a team of three to take part in the state contest. Those winning this trip are Bernard Kross, Dairyland, DuBois Jenkins, New Palts, and Lewis Boice, Lake Katrine.

Dairyland, DuBois Jenkins, New Palts, and Lewis Boice, Lake Katrine.

18 Judging Contests

Eighteen different judging contests were held so that every club and member might participate. The results are as follows:

Tools for Helping Hands: First—New Palts Homemaking Club; Third—Flatbush Junior Homemaking Club; High Individuals—Virginia Juckett, New Palts; Irene Pulcer, New Palts; Frances Clarke, Milton.

Eaton to Continue Drive on Democrats

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Melvin C. Eaton, Republican state chairman who tonight prepares to wind up his August campaign against the state and national administrations with a speech at Conesus, plans no letup in his efforts to oust the Democrats from control of the Lower House of the legislature.

A new drive, described as a preliminary to the pre-election campaign in October, will be started early in September and Eaton will be assisted by Rep. Bert Snell, Republican House leader and Rep. Charles Pisk, Rhode Island, who recently defeated a New Deal candidate in one of the east's major political upsets.

Eaton has been dubbed "the iron man" of the state G. O. P. as a result of his many trips throughout the state during which he has blasted the state and national administrations.

The new G. O. P. assault opens September 6 with an address by Eaton before the Yates County Republican Club at Penn Yan. On the following day September 7, he will deliver another address before a gathering of the Rensselaer county Republican organization at Sharps Grove.

On September 8 Eaton will meet with the conference committee of the Association of Young Republican Clubs of New York state at Utica and on September 11 will swing through his home territory of Plattsburgh for an address before the Plattsburgh Exchange Club. On September 12 he will speak before the Young Men's Republican Club of Jamestown, N. Y., ending a tour along the Republican southern tier that is expected to see him in conference with G. O. P. leaders along the route.

The highlight of the month's drive will be the annual gathering of the Onondaga county Republican organization at Utica September 14 at which Bert Snell, upstate New York representative in Congress and Roosevelt critic and Congressman Risk will be speakers.

INJURED IN ODD ACCIDENT SATURDAY AT BLUE MOUNTAIN

Billy Carelas, a son of Peter Carelas of Blue Mountain, was injured Saturday night in an odd accident. He was walking along with a stick in his hand when he stubbed his toe and fell forward and the sharp end of the stick penetrated the boy's chest above the heart and, breaking off, left a part of the stick deeply imbedded in the flesh. Dr. Lester A. Sonking of Saugerties administered first aid and had the boy removed to the Kingston Hospital where while under an anesthetic the piece of stick was removed by Dr. Sonking. After a short time the boy was able to return home. A Pennsylvania newspaper announced in an ad that a professional mystic is going to drive blindfolded under an anesthetic through the streets of the town remaining at the hospital for a short time the boy was able to return home. A lot of the drivers must be blindfolded.

MILTON

Milton, Aug. 26.—Francis Clarke eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Clarke, won second prize in the girls' clothing competition at the Ulster County Fair in Kingston last week. She had made very neatly and attractively a school dress of figured percale mostly blue.

Local people won special honor at the Ulster County Fair last week. J. Harold Clarke and son, Glenn, of Milton, won eight first and two seconds out of ten baskets shown in commercial pack. First prize winners in the fruit department included J. Harold Clarke and son and Kenneth Taber of Milton. Many prizes were awarded in the Home Bureau department. Of unusual interest were two miniature gardens displayed by Mrs. D. M. Warren and Mrs. Herbert Bell of Milton.

Miss Eleanor Young of Milton was one of the members of the recreation committee of the Ulster County Fair last week.

Dr. A. S. Ferguson, town of Marlborough health officer, has received a complaint in the form of a petition signed by a number of Milton Boy Scouts and Milton citizens, concerning the transportation of manure through the town of Marlborough in uncovered trucks. This is a menace to public health because of the danger of flies transmitting the communicable diseases. At this time of the year caution is especially needed due to the prevalence of infantile paralysis. The germs of this disease are easily carried by flies. Some years ago an ordinance was passed by the town board forbidding this procedure. Dr. Ferguson has taken up the matter with both the parties transporting the manure and those receiving it. It is hoped that they will cooperate in every way to erase this offending business. The Boy Scouts and citizens of Milton are to be congratulated for taking this matter up with the health officer. Certainly no one wants to be ill with typhoid fever or have their children stricken with the dread disease, infantile paralysis.

The August meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Clarke Friday afternoon, August 30.

At the Ulster County Fair last week the Milton Grange won fourth prize. The Milton Grange booth was arranged with special attractiveness with a background of deep purple crepe paper against which apples and other fruits were arranged in a formal and symmetrical design. In the display were the fruits of the season, fresh garden produce, flowers, canned fruit and vegetables and baked goods.

The first case of infantile paralysis in this section was reported to Dr. A. S. Ferguson, town of Marlborough health officer, the first of last week. The report came from Dr. A. C. J. Gervais of Milton. A young child spending the summer with its parents at a Milton boarding house was the victim. Considerable confusion was caused by the fact that the parents left with the sick child for their home in Brooklyn immediately. Brooklyn health authorities had to be reached by Dr. Ferguson and put on the track of the child.

The Milton Home Bureau unit display a special exhibit at the Ulster County Fair in Kingston last week. It was arranged by Mrs. Herbert Bell and it was entered in a group designed to show what Home Bureau publicity is and can be. Mrs. Bell's exhibit included clippings from the Southern Ulster Pioneer, showing articles about the local or County Home Bureau which had been published during the year. There was a display of Cornell and other bulletins of use to Home Bureau groups. Mrs. Bell had made attractive placards illustrated with cutouts from magazines showing how Farm Bureau work is advertised by telephone, conversations, the use of information in the home, etc.

Mrs. Edward Young, Sr., of Milton, former president of the State Federation and a member of the board of directors still, gave a talk on Wednesday morning at the fair in Kingston. She told of international contacts of the Home Bureau and of international groups for rural women.

Mrs. Elsie Hallock and daughter, Virginia, her mother, Mrs. Smock, and Mrs. Lovejoy, of Haddonfield, N. J., motored Tuesday to Salmo Fontaine Club at Turnwood to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Velle of Newburgh were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Round at Ripley, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Round were former residents of Milton. Mr. Round was a helper in the founding of the First National Bank of Milton. They are very active in local activities at their present home in Ripley. Mr. Round, who is now 91 years old, is interested in the Red Cross and was active in the American Revolution. Mrs. Round has reached the age of 90 and is still very active and cheery.

Miss Minna Strohman, town health nurse, and her sister, Miss Ida Strohman, of Brooklyn, are in Canada on a vacation tour. They have been traveling the past week on the road that goes around the Gaspé Peninsula, one of the most interesting parts of Canada.

Mrs. Winfield Bailey, Mrs. Elsie Hallock and Mrs. Lutha Cantline visited Mrs. Hallock's brother, Morris Cantline, at Ashtabula, Ohio, last week.

Mrs. Edward Young, Sr., and daughter, Eleanor, left last Friday for Syracuse where they will attend the State Fair.

Miss Kathryn Rush, local telephone operator, is having a two weeks' vacation. Miss Ethel Collins is substituting.

Miss Marjorie Allen of Jersey City is spending her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Frederick Woolsey.

TEMPTING SALADS AND ACCESSORIES IN HOME INSTITUTE RECIPE BOOKLET

DAINTY MORSELS TO SERVE WITH SALAD

Cheese puffs. . . Marguerites. . . Pickle fans—all in a row. Waiting for what? The salad bowl in the background tells the story—they're dainty morsels to round out the cold course.

So often you need some little extra bit of goodness—something hot, or crunchy, or salty—to serve with a salad. Tiny hot biscuits or muffins are good; so are crackers and cheese. And here's a Cheese Puff that's especially delicious with a salad of crisp greens. To make the puffs, cut rounds of bread and toast on one side; then cover the other side with a cheese mixture made of 1 cup of grated American cheese folded into 3 egg whites which you've beaten up stiff with half a teaspoon of baking powder. Place under a slow flame for 5 or 6 minutes—until egg white is firm, cheese melted, and top delicately browned.

Quick and Easy

Cheese balls rolled in nuts, or in minced parsley, are just the thing to serve with a shredded carrot and cabbage salad; and pickle fans make a fine garnish for a fish salad.

For a fruit salad, there are the:

Marguerites that delighted you so much as a child. See them in the third row from the left? For these, you make a meringue. Beat an egg white till foamy. Then gradually beat in 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, and beat till blended and very stiff. Pile on crackers, sprinkle with nuts, and bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) 8 or 10 minutes until top is nicely browned.

When you want something crunchy and hot in a hurry, try Toasted Pumpkin Crackers. Use salty crackers, sprinkle lightly with butter, dust with paprika and crisp in a hot oven.

Salted Suggestions

There is just a smattering of the dainty trifles you can make to add a dash of interest to the salad course. Our 32-page Home Institute booklet, Salads and Their Accessories, has more of them, and recipes for all kinds of salads and salad dressings. It will help you make:

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1741-B

The Barbara Bell Pattern Book featuring fall designs is ready. Send 15 cents today for your copy.

Trim, Tailored Frock for the Mature Woman

Don't you like the wide collar on the dress today? The neckline is V-shaped, but the collar itself is wide and rounded, so you get the elongated line which is becoming to the mature face. The blouse is buttoned with two large buttons which appear in the middle of scalloped—chic detail, and although the dress does not open clear down the front, it has that effect, for there is a seam, right in the middle, and down to the bottom of the skirt. Darts mold the waistline, and the sleeves are straight and wide, quite short, or wrist length, buttoned with a single button.

The new silk crepes and rayon weaves are more fascinating than ever this season. Most of them have dull, mossy surfaces, which makes them incredibly rich looking. Some look exactly like wool, fuzzy and soft to the touch.

Silk crepe is most appropriate for this frock, and in this season of gorgeous color, you are sure to find one your heart warms to—if not, there is always black.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1741-B is designed in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46. Size 36 requires about 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Ermine tails
create an air
of distinction.
Liane Marwin

Black velvet has an air of distinction that is never lost at any social gathering—it seems to stand alone in its elegance—and while many wine tones, plum shades, deep greens and blues are talked about—black will hold its own first place in the realm of fashion.

Draped effects, covered shoulders and front shirt fullness show the softness of the new trend. Fur trimming is very prominent both in day-time and formal frocks—much an these metal and jeweled pieces are being used in keeping with the Italian influence for that richly jeweled effect.

Simplicity is the keynote of the gown pictured here—and most designers seem to agree that velvet is the fabric best suited to simple, graceful lines. It is a Vionnet model of black transparent velvet with a deep, draped collar that forms a high neckline at front, covers the shoulders and sweeps down at back to a low softly framed décolletage.

A regal touch is given by the many ermine tails which outline the collar and provide smart contrast of black with white, which ranks so high for the coming season.

Players' Guild Will Confer With Directors

The Kingston Players' Guild, recently organized dramatic society, will meet tonight at the Municipal Auditorium, to confer with possible directors of the bill of three one-act plays to be presented by the Guild in the near future.

Miss Marion Byrne, B. F. L. of the high school faculty, and Samuel Bond will be present at the meeting, according to Miss Janet Evans, chairman of the committee on directors. Both of these people have had much experience in the dramatic field and have records of many successful plays to their credit. The chief purpose of the meeting Tuesday evening will be to discuss with these directors their willingness to direct the Guild plays, as well as to give them an insight into the aims and purposes of the organization.

An interesting program has been arranged that will be of special interest to the members. Miss Miriam Mann has prepared a short talk on the history of the drama, and the Misses Louise Kerr, Marion Farrell and Dorothy Smith are to report on one-act plays.

Will Rogers was a great American and his loss will be mourned by all true Americans. Perhaps as good a tribute as can be paid to his patriotism and sound sense is to remind ourselves of the fact that he not only loved his country but appreciated the wisdom of the policy of our avoiding any mixing in the affairs of Europe and of attending to our own business.

The governor of Ohio and the governor of Illinois each refused to call a special session to call a congressional vacancy. It wouldn't sound so comic if they didn't excuse themselves in the "interest of economy."

TIPS ON CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL

By TOM O'NEIL

Four Queens Fatal

With good defense a squeeze on one defender in two suits or a squeeze on each defender in two suits will set up only one card for the declarer. In other words most squeezes will produce only one more trick than is obvious at first study.

But when one defender has to protect three suits it is possible with the right lay of the cards for the declarer to squeeze out two extra tricks.

Mrs. Madeleine Kerwin of New York illustrated the principle on this deal:

NORTH DEALER
WEST	NORTH	EAST
♠ 10 4	♠ K 2	♠ 7 6 5
♥ 10 9 7	♥ A 9 4 2	♥ 8 6 4 3
♦ 10 8	♦ A K 6 5	♦ 7 6 5
♣ 3	♣ J 2	♣ J 2
	♠ A 10 3
	♥ J 5
	♦ K J 3
	♣ 10 9 7 4

Mrs. Kerwin, South, had to try to make seven no trump. North opened the auction with a club. Having a good fit in clubs and a balanced hand with stoppers in two suits and a help toward a stopper in a third, Mrs. Kerwin thought one no trump or two clubs would not give an idea of her strength. She bid two no trump. North leaped to grand slam, which West doubled on the strength of four queens and intermediates. The hand was overbid, but North felt justified after South's offer of two no trump.

West opened the heart seven. In sight for the declarer were two spades, two hearts, two diamonds and five clubs (if they broke), a total of 11, or two short of the contract.

Mrs. Kerwin played her only hope, assuming that the clubs were evenly divided and that West held all the adverse strength.

The first trick was taken North with the king of hearts and the club situation was tested forthwith. When the queen and jack fell on the ace and king, the ten and nine being played South, hopes rose.

The ace of hearts was played, followed by the king and ace of spades. At this time there had been set up in the West hand two winning spades and two winning hearts.

After playing the ace of spades Mrs. Kerwin returned to the North hand with a club and ran the last of them. West had to find three diamonds. Just before the last club was led the situation was:

NORTH
D-A 9 4 2
C-6

WEST
H-Q
D-Q 10 8

EAST
S-3
H-8
D-7 5 6

SOUTH
S-10
H-J
D-K J 2

East's cards were immaterial. On the last club the diamond three was discarded South, it being necessary to keep the spade and the heart as a threat on West. West gave up the ghost, conceding the grand slam.

If he threw a diamond a low diamond would be led from North to the king and the jack returned and covered with the ace. The last four tricks would be taken with diamonds. If West threw a spade, the declarer would lead from North to the king of diamonds and squeeze West again with the good ten of spades. If West threw a heart the jack of hearts would be played after the king of diamonds, forcing another fatal discard West.

Local Soldiers In "Front" Lines Pine Camp Notes About The Boys

Back from an overnight bivouac which started Friday morning, the batteries making up the 156th Field Artillery, of which Headquarters Battery and Combat Train and Battery "A" are from Kingston, Captain Carlton S. Preston's outfit had to credit the only headquarters battery to accomplish the laying of communication lines to the "front" in the mock warfare taking place at Pine Camp last week and continuing until the end of this one.

The Kingston men were up early Friday morning to perform their parts in the war games and spent the major portion of the day moving toward positions to protect the infantry ahead. The boys arrived to make camp for the night at dusk and with the issue of extra blankets and heavy overcoats were made comfortable for the chilly night. Up at 4 a. m. the "warriors" began the laying of telephone lines and setting up radio communication sets. Battery "A" had in the meantime moved its guns into position for its part in the fray.

Lines quickly established by dint of hard work, the problem of providing communication between the various units of the battalion were ready for any request for aid from the guns behind the firing line. Under the direction of Corporal Giles the machine gun was placed in a concealed position ready to fire upon any enemy aircraft which might attempt to scout the position of the battery or destroy it if the opportunity afforded. The corporal soon sighted one of the enemy planes and prepared to fire, only to have his gun jam. The aid of "Top Kick" Henry soon repaired this minor trouble, and the craft was in the air again.

The telephone communication was handled at a central switch board by Corporal Steeger and Private Herardi, who were kept continually busy connecting the various units in an efficient manner. The battery had laid lines to the very front and was the only unit to establish communication by wire with the infantry. Captain Preston received the congratulations from all the staff officers for this feat. The Reel Cart in charge of Sergeant Ransom was in a large part responsible for the laying of wires. His detail did the hardest work of the day.

Fore-runner of this successful day was the work of the cook detail, under the direction of George Rafferty, which worked all night before preparing the meals. He was assisted by K. P. Slight and Finerty, with the latter arriving at the temporary camp several miles from the main establishment to have welcome hot coffee waiting for the men and a regular breakfast.

The war problem ended early in the afternoon as far as the fighting was concerned but it remained for headquarters battery to take up several miles of telephone wire before this unit could turn campward after accomplishing a successful mission. The boys found a hot meal waiting for them and were glad to be back after sleeping in the "pup" tents the previous night.

Sunday was a rest day except for the regular camp duties which must be performed each day and a special regimental guard mount.

On Monday the boys were again scheduled to break camp on another campaign of two days' duration, either on a continuation of the same problem or the attacking of a new one.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be spent in tearing down the permanent camp, which has afforded many of the facilities of home. Early Saturday morning the boys will break camp, according to present plans, arriving in Kingston in the early evening.

Battery Bunkers
With Sergeant "Boo Hoo" Enslit as Judge and State's Attorney "Bert" Giles the "Owls" initiation club of the battery, swung into action. The "tortures" were managed by Pvt. "Chicken" Ricketson with dispatch. Several more meetings of the society are expected before it closes its books until next year.

On Saturday evening Capt. Preston and "Top Kick" Giles of Battery "A" took time out from the arduous war games to fish. The boys were fully confident that they would have fish for the remainder of the week if the captain manages the fishing line as well as he did the wires during the war games.

A bit of unexpected action occurred just before the battery prepared to leave for camp from the bivouac when Corporal Floyd Bush held up the departure until he could find his hatchet for the Reel Cart. It was there all of the time, the corporal found out later.

Sergeant, Corporal Steeger says it was Corporal Ricketson and vice versa, bricked his horse to a test pole and the animal was asked enough to pull down the test concerned in the matter.

Sergeant "Random" Eddie De-Bate is reported to be taking beauty the battery. The lieutenant finally won the battle but it was an exhaustive struggle lasting most of the day. Sergeant "Jackie" Post is all puffed up to learn that his horse won a ribbon at the Uister County Fair. He is hearing up well managing some 30 strange horses allotted the battery during the maneuvers.

Sergeant "All American Boy" Ransom always comes up for "seconds" on the Wheaties at morning mess, which it is said is responsible for his never ending energy at work and at play.

Pvt. "Texas" Mosby, the famous Yellow Jacket football player, today began training for the fall sport driving the teams on the mountain wagon, thereby earning the title of "Twenty Mule Team."

Pvt. Bob Steele is patiently waiting a visit of the "Owls" who are neglecting him to a point where it irks said gentleman.

Pvt. "Kit Carson" Calao is spending all of the rest periods on each day's march shootin' "injuns."

Pvt. "Pulley Upper" North had to keep his hands in his pockets all day Saturday because Ricketson slit his belt straps.

Corporal Emerson "Flying Through the Air with the Greatest of Ease" Mayes is still trying to figure out how he arrived in the center of his tent from his cot the other day.

Pvt. "Kid Miller" Lindhurst is helping to direct the mock warfare as the right hand man of Capt. C. N. Behrens.

Pvt. Varga is participating in the war games dressed in an "overseas" cap of CCC vintage.

Corporal "Little Albie" Montavani keeps the U. S. mailman busy with his "Have I any today?"

Pvt. Bob Felton's stable manicurist, favorite cry is "Ray, Ray."

Pvt. "Willie Zates" is competing with Mosby as premier team driver of the outfit.

Pvt. "Chet" Joy is taking up machine gunning as training for his annual deer hunting trip this fall.

Pvt. "Go Into Your Dance" Van Kleek did just that the other night for the "Owls."

Pvt. George Hendricks has won distinction as the quietest man in the battery.

Pvt. Anson Boice, represents the battery as regimental orderly.

Pvt. Carl Limbacher announced Saturday that he had learned to "post" while riding, quite a feat he thinks after taking his first ride on horseback since coming to camp.

(Aside—He still stands to eat his meals.)

War as being depicted at Pine Camp is not altogether the charge of men and roar of shells. Here are photos showing the "other side" of the big "conflict." At left, Capt. Carl Rounds, regimental staff, 103rd Infantry, Portland, Me., domestically irons the wrinkles from a freshly washed shirt, and right, war is for a moment forgotten by men of the 44th division, New York and New Jersey National Guard, as a field preaching service is held. (Associated Press Photos)

MARCHING TO AN INEVITABLE CONFLICT?

Italian and Ethiopian soldiers are being concentrated by the hundreds of thousands for what seems an inevitable war. Here are typical detachments of fighters, Italians (above) and Ethiopians (below). The Italian men were photographed as they marched toward transports at Naples, part of a cutoff of 2,000 that sailed together. The Ethiopians are part of forces raised by General Whelan as they marched into Addis Ababa to offer their aid to Emperor Haile Selassie. (Associated Press Photos)

Dancer, In Hollywood For A Tap, Stays To Be Film's Leading Lady

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—There is to be no rest for the weary, and that includes Eleanor Powell.

This brown-haired, willowy girl who studied ballet and developed into liquid syncopation, a sorceress of tapping rhythms, came to Hollywood expecting to do a specialty number or two in "The Broadway Melody of 1936." As it happened, she became the leading lady, with a role in which she does "everything except ride a bare-back horse."

Some of the things include a dual acting role, an impersonation of Katharine Hepburn, four specialty dances and a toe dance, and by the time audiences see her do them a new star will be listed on the film roster. Jack Benny, who is the star of the picture, says that.

Graduated From 'Scandals'

But the proof of the pudding is that Metro, with a contract that begins in June next year, wants to buy a previous stage contract that calls her to New York immediately. She is going to be in the Shubert production, "Al Home Abroad."

Metro, naturally, wants to put her in another picture right away, or sooner if possible.

Eleanor Powell, a Springfield, Mass. girl, made a tap-dancing name on Broadway and came to Hollywood first for the George White "Scandals," in which she had a specialty number. She thought Metro crazy when they asked her to take tests for the leading role. But after three months on the picture, preceded by five weeks' rehearsals, she is feeling a little giddy herself.

"Mother and I got up at 5:30, dashed to the studio to be made up and ready to work at 7," she explains, "and I'd be working from then on—sometimes 12 to 14 hours a day. If we finished shooting at 9 p. m., there would still be more rehearsing I had to do, and that meant dinner at 11 and then bed, and up again at 5:30. Dinner at 11 because you can't dance well after eating."

Idea From 'Hot' Records

This girl who bears the modest title of "world's greatest feminine tap dancer" creates all her own routines, gets ideas for steps while listening to "hot" phonograph records. Sometimes she will "dream a step" and on such occasions, even if it's 2 a. m., she has to get up and work it out. She has a name for every routine, a name usually snatched from the air, to identify it in memory. She was doing a new one one morning when her mother came in with a pot of coffee, and that's how the "coffee pot glide" was christened.

Correspondents Refused

Addis Ababa, Aug. 27 (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie today refused American and other foreign newspaper correspondents permission to go to the fighting zone if war is declared. He said it would be too dangerous and he could not assume the responsibility if any of them were killed. It was pointed out that the armies move so fast and the terrain is so difficult, coupled with the lack of telegraph facilities and roads and absence of living quarters it would be impossible for any civilian to accompany the troops.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Three mountain climbing expeditions on New York state's highest peaks are planned as a feature of the celebration of fifty years of state conservation work to be held at Lake Placid, September 12 to 14.

At 7:30 a. m., September 12, one expedition will leave the Lake Placid arena for a trip up Mount Marcy, the state's tallest peak. A climb to the summit of Mt. McIntyre is planned for September 13. The same day a hike of eight and one-half miles will be made through Avalanche Pass, which is between Mt. Colden and Mt. McIntyre, and along Avalanche Lake to the Leaning Tower.

An ample number of forest rangers to act as guides will be provided by the State Conservation Department, Commissioner Lithgow Osborne said.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Frederick M. Davenport of Clinton, today mapped his campaign to regain the seat in Congress he lost to Fred J. Sisson of Whitesboro. He said last night he plans to seek the Republican nomination for Congress from the 33rd district next year.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "The Irish in Us." James Cagney, fresh from his "G-Men" triumph, dashes off a bit of light comedy as a brother following his arduous work as a government agent. And this show is just that, a fast paced, cleverly managed humor drama, with thrills and excitement thrown about in the usual Cagney manner. To help matters along, Pat O'Brien is also in the cast and he gives one of his finest performances as a cop who tries to keep his brother on the straight and narrow pathway. That brother is played by James Cagney, and the plot of the story centers around these two brothers and their love for the same girl. Allen Jenkins, Frank McHugh and Orlia De Havilland are featured. Good rough and tumble entertainment, well directed and acted by a cast of experienced and capable players.

Orpheum: "All the King's Horses." With Edward Everett Horton leading a large cast, this comedy offering proves to be adequate entertainment. Although released quite some time ago, it is one of the best of Mr. Horton's comedy efforts, and Eugene Pallette, Katherine DeMille, and a host of other players make the play more enjoyable through well acted characterizations.

Kingston: "The Arizona." For real old time thrills against a western locale, this show is a prize. It's probably as well done as any western melodrama ever made, and Richard Dix, cast as Clay Tallant, proves to be the most romantic hero ever to clank his fist against a villain or shoot his trusty guns with deadly finality. Although the show is wild and filled with impossible situations, it has a universal appeal because of its excellent acting and its unquestioned entertainment value. For the show hasn't a dull moment and is sure to keep any audience nicely stirred up during its unending run. Dix makes a perfect westerner, and his physique is enough to make even the baddest of the bad men quake in terror when he goes after them. Margot Grahame, Preston Foster, Louis Calhern and Jimmie Bush are also in the cast. Good entertainment, full of thrills and pleasing scenic effects. "Amateur Night" is also an added feature of the program.

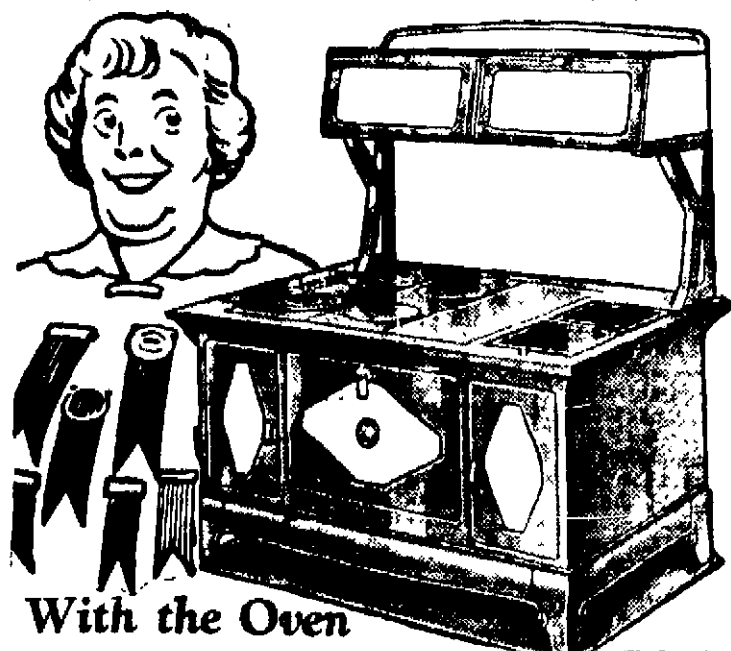

Tomorrow: Broadway: "Orchids to You." All about a beautiful lady florist who knows more scandal than a basketful of gossip but who tells nothing because the ethics in her profession say to keep a stiff upper lip and an eye on business. Such a thing is pretty difficult for the lady to do because the wife of the man she loves is running around with another man. During the course of events, a national flower show is shown as an added feature of the picture, and it's the best part of the talkie. For although the play attempts to be light and airy, it has a tendency to be tedious. Jean Muir, John Boles, Charles Butterworth and Hervey Stephens are featured.

Orpheum: "I'll Love You Always" and "Wilderness Mail." Nancy Carroll, trying hard to beat her way back to the stardom she once knew, works valiantly in the opening feature, a dramatic tale of sacrifice and sorrow that also features George Murphy. "Wilderness Mail" is the second full length attraction, a story of the early west with Kermit Maynard starred. It has action galore, danger, excitement and melodramatic intensity. The youngsters will find this one to their liking.

Kingston: "Silk Hat Kid" and "Hard Rock Harrigan." A comedy offering is the opening number on the Kingston screen with Lew Ayres and Mae Clarke doing their best in the cast. Good entertainment.

Today's Cable Briefs By Associated Press

Manila—Two Chinese daily newspapers here today reproduced the recent Vanity Fair cartoon lampooning Emperor Hirohito of Japan with result that the Japanese consul general protested to the Chinese consul general. Japanese Consul General Ken-ichi Uchiyama wrote Chinese Consul General T. Dunn that reproduction of the cartoon showed "lack of respect toward the emperor."

Vienna—Alois Fueser, who formerly earned his living as a hangman, carrying out death sentences for the government, today hanged himself in a jail cell. He had been confined there since his arrest for the murder of his two children.

Belgrade, Yugoslavia—Konstantin Potitick, Yugoslav delegate to the League of Nations, today was named Yugoslav minister to Washington, D. C.

Salzburg, Austria—A military airplane crashed today at nearby Walschsee, killing its two occupants. One of the dead was the son of the commandant of the Salzburg airport.

Stockholm—Revamping of the Swedish defense system, including reorganization of command, expansion of the air force and army, and reduction of the navy with greater attention to light ships, was recommended today in the report of the commission of 13, completing a five-year study.

Judda, Arabia—Emir Saud, Crown Prince of Saudi Arabia, returned today from his trip to London, where he joined in King George's jubilee. On route home the colorful traveler had visited the Emir Abdullah at Amman, trans-Jordan, where he met with hundreds of tribal sheiks who had assembled to discuss the Italo-Ethiopian situation.

Oslo, Norway—Dr. P. Munch, foreign minister of Denmark, arriving here today for a meeting of Scandinavian ministers, declared:

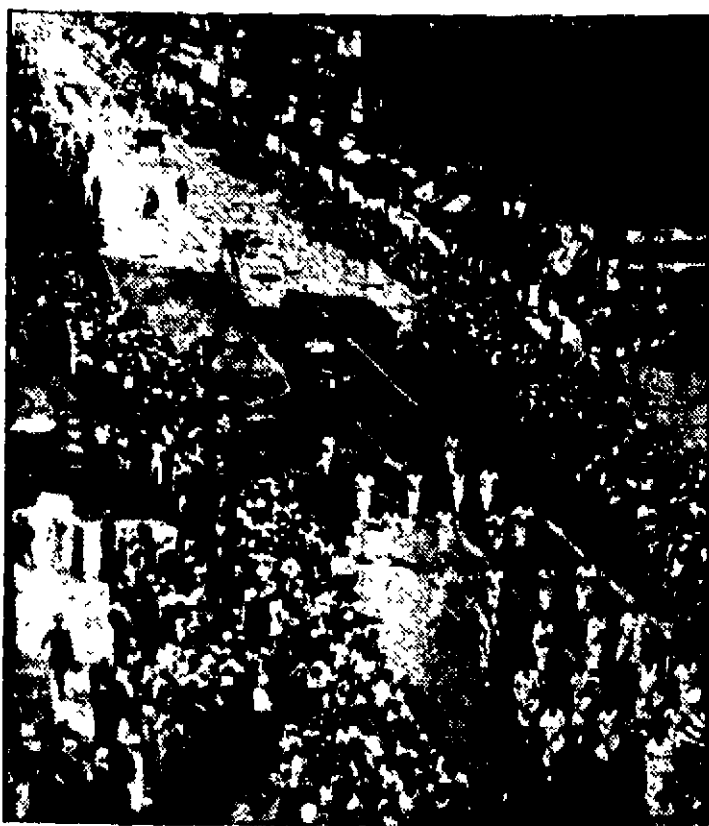

HIS EXCELLENCY--

The Governor Of Maryland Harry W. Nice, Maryland's third Republican governor in history, likes to drop in on people unexpectedly. . . frequently on a motor trip, will suggest turning up some little road to stop by "Jim Jones" place. . . and "Jim Jones" may be a farmer, merchant, Republican chieftain, or some former hunting or fishing companion. Although the governor is an ardent motorist and has held a driver's license for years, he never drives. Mrs. Nice attends to that. Nice, listed for many years as one of the state's foremost attorneys, was the conqueror of a national Democratic figure, Albert C. Ritchie, in the last gubernatorial race. He prides himself on listening attentively to adverse opinions. . . and weighing the value of such counsel. . . is 58 years old. . . has one son, Harry, Jr. His term expires in January, 1939.

"The issue in the present (Italo-Ethiopian) conflict is entirely in the hands of the big powers. For small countries it must be sufficient to try to influence general opinion, which is a long drawn-out work. . . ."

MARDI GRAS FOR EMPIRE STATE

The Mardi Gras of warmer climes was borrowed to give an added flip to the New York State Fair at Syracuse. Here is a typical scene as 100,000 lined three miles of city streets to witness the parade that was a feature of "Syracuse Day." (Associated Press Photo.)

Winnie Mae To Go To The Smithsonian

Bartlesville, Okla., Aug. 27 (AP).—The Winnie Mae, the late Wiley Post's glove circling, stratosphere exploring airplane, may forsake the skyways for its last journey.

President Roosevelt has signed a bill for purchase of the machine by the government for exhibition in the Smithsonian Institution, but Oklahoma pilots were reluctant to discuss flying it east. It may be shipped.

L. E. Gray, intimate friend of Post, called the Winnie Mae a "one man ship". Explaining: "I believe I am the only man beside Post who ever flew the Winnie Mae."

"If necessary, I would fly it to Washington, but I am not anxious to assume the responsibility."

Last Quarterly Meeting

The last quarterly meeting of the conference year is being held in the Free Methodist Church on Tremper avenue between Downs and O'Neill streets this week commencing tonight with a preaching service at 7:45. Preaching services also on Wednesday and Thursday nights at the same hour. As usual the Rev. Adam Kress, district elder, will have the sermons. Everyone welcome to charge of every service preaching these inspirational and spiritual meetings.

Police Found Kelder Squatting In Weeds

Was Across the Road from Benedictine Hospital at 2 a. m.—Had an Armful of Books With Him—Other Cases in Police Court This Morning.

Robert Kelder, 33, of 102 McEntee street, was found about 2 o'clock this morning squatting among a clump of weeds across the road from the Benedictine Hospital. The police who found him placed him under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct in not being able to give a satisfactory account of himself. Kelder had an armful of books with him, and according to the police was spending his time looking up at the hospital from where he reclined among the weeds. The police department lately had received several complaints that there had been a "Peeping Tom" in the vicinity of the hospital.

Kelder pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct when arraigned before Judge Culliton in police court and was fined $10.

Purdy Fined $15

Orville Purdy, 39, of Woodstock, was found guilty of reckless driving after a hearing today and was fined $15 by Judge Culliton. The Woodstock man was arrested Sunday night by William H. Niles of Pearl street, following a collision between the Ford sedan driven by Mr. Niles and a truck operated by Purdy. Riding with Purdy was his sister, Mrs. Ray Long who was treated at the Kingston Hospital for lacerations to her face. The car and truck were in collision at Pearl and Green streets.

Charged With Speeding

Two arrests were made Monday on charges of speeding on Albany avenue. George J. Budd of Central Islip, L. I., charged with speeding 44 miles an hour, was fined $10.

Albino Sarro of Catskill, charged with speeding 46 miles an hour, had his hearing set down for August 29. John D. Caton of Maple Heights, Ohio, charged with cutting to the left of a traffic standard at Albany and Clinton avenues, forfeited $5 cash bail for failing to appear in court today in answer to the charge.

Given Suspended Sentence

Eugene Krum, 27, of 20 Cedar street, arrested by his sister, Cora White, who charged her brother with assault in the third degree on Sunday night, was given a suspended sentence of 10 days in jail by Judge Culliton after he had listened to Krum and his sister tell their story of what happened.

Finds No Evidence Against Winters

Claude L. Winters, who was taken into custody by investigators from the Alcohol Tax Unit, following the raid of a 2,500 gallon still on the Simpson farm south of Gardiner, and who was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Connelly Monday, was discharged after a hearing. The commissioner found that there was no evidence connecting Winters with the ownership or operation of the still. The Winters farm adjoins the Simpson farm on which the still was located.

Residents along the Walkkill river in the vicinity of Gardiner and toward New Paltz have during the past two or three weeks noticed a large number of dead bass and other fish along the banks of the stream. One party reported having seen "thousands" of dead fish. It is thought by many that the fish were killed by pollution of the stream from the still, as a small brook runs from near where the still was located and empties into the Walkkill.

When Doc Townsend gets his old age pension bill through, "Darling, I am Growing Old" won't be such a sad song any more.

MRS. WILL ROGERS RESTS AT BEVERLY HILLS HOME

Beverly Hills, Calif., Aug. 27 (AP).—Mrs. Will Rogers is bearing up well under the shock of her husband's death, Stanley F. Anderson, close friend of the family, said today. Anderson said Mrs. Rogers has been under a physician's observation since her husband was killed in the Alaskan plane crash with Wiley Post, but that she has not required actual treatment.

Within the next few days, Anderson said, Mrs. Rogers will take a "quiet trip," the destination unannounced.

Mary Pickford, Fred Stone, Billie Burke and other theatrical associates of the comedian met with Mayor E. Spence and former neighbors of the Rogers family last night and adopted a resolution approving a national memorial movement honoring the humorist.

Berardi A. C. Shade Forsts, 3-2; Win Second Half Championship

Berardi A. C. won the championship of the second half of the City League by virtue of a 3 to 2 victory over Forst's Formosts at the Athletic Field, Monday evening. Two wild heaves, one by Gene Rider and the other by Pres Knight, decided the issue. They came in the last half of the last inning, with "Spot" Cullen, Berardi's pitcher, on second base and allowed him to race home with the winning run. The run broke up a 2-2 deadlock, which both teams had been trying to break from the fourth inning on.

The game was a playoff between the two teams, which was necessitated when both teams ended the regular schedule with four wins and no defeats. The Berardis will now meet Hercules' Powdermen, first-half champions, for the championship of the city.

Berardi upset the dope by not starting Julius Chick, ace pitcher, who had won their four games. In his stead they put "Spot" Cullen, a curve ball artist, and the strategy worked fine, for Cullen, who is real young, had the more experienced batters at his mercy at all times. He allowed but four singles, two of the scratch variety and both runs scored on him were unearned. Only five of the Packers reached first base.

Jack Dodge opposed Cullen and was hit quite freely. He was nicked for eight safeties, hit one batsman and walked one.

Linden, Vanderzee and Cullen pooled the longest hit, each connecting for two bases. Murphy and Linden were only batters to get two hits.

Berardi's sparkled on the field. They turned what looked like hits into putouts and played heads-up ball. Two bad throws by Zadyan, the catcher, spoiled their error column.

Both teams went down in order in the first inning, but the second found both scoring. Forsts, who batted first, broke through for the first run. Dawkins received a walk, stole second and took third on Zadyan's first bad throw. Carpenter hit through DeCicco at third base, but DeCicco recovered the ball quickly and held Dawkins on third. Sickler also hit to DeCicco who threw to first for the putout and Dawkins raced for home. Linden's throw was not so good and Dawkins was safe.

Berardi also scored one, which came after two outs. Linden fashioned his double at this time, the ball going far into the crowd in right field and Maine slugged to left field to chase him home.

Berardi took the lead in the third frame. Vanderzee also doubled into the crowd in right field. Zadyan received a pass and Tiano singled to left field, Vanderzee crossing the rubber on the hit.

Forsts evened matters in the fourth inning, Dawkins again scoring. He singled to left field, stole second and again went to third on Zadyan's second wild peg. Carpenter hit a long fly to Tiano in center field to drive him in.

With all indications pointing to an extra inning Berardi came to bat in their half of the last frame and the first batter went out easily. But then things started to happen. Dodge hit Cullen with a pitched ball and Murphy singled to left field. Cullen took a big lead off second base and Rider in an attempt to catch him, uncorked his wild heave, which went to Knight in center field. Cullen proceeded towards third base and Knight heaved the ball far over Stump's head and with the throw went the ball game and the second half championship.

SIDELINERS
The victory was sweet to Berardi for it not only gave them a win over every team in the loop but avenged their lone defeat which was suffered at the hands of Forsts.

Tommy Maines pulled the prize catch of the evening. He traveled fast to get a hard hit ball by Charlie Lay in the sixth inning. The hit would have been a homer if he hadn't caught it.

Linden also turned in a fine play in the same frame when he made a neat pickup of Dawkins' grounder.

The case of Burgomaster donated by Fitzgerald Bros. pretty near went to Linden on his double.

SOFTBALL RESULTS
Cornell-Rescue 10, Apple Knockers 4
The Cornell-Rescue Club chose the old Catkill Apple Knockers as their seventh straight victims when they handed them a 10-4 shelling at Block Park last night. Snyder pitched and Woods caught for the C. & R. Club while Kaplan and Post tossed them up and Kelly caught for the Apple Knockers. Spiegel starred in the field for the C. & R., making several spectacular catches, and Woods hit a four bagger to cap the batting honors. Wednesday at Block Park the Cornell-Rescue Club and Connolly Aces will meet in an encounter that promises to be a thriller for softball enthusiasts.

Rapid Hose 10, Port Ewen 7.
Monday evening at the Hercules field the Rapid Hose softballers defeated the Port Ewen Fire Department by a score of 10 to 7.

The Rapids got off to an early lead in the second and third innings and managed to hold it to the end, although they played very loose ball in the 6th inning, when the Port Eweners staged their rally.

Maines got a home run for the Port Ewen team, while Krum, Haher and Skop hit triples for the Rapids.

Tonight at Block Park the Rapids meet the Men's Club of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Missing Girl Found In New York City

The village of New Palitz was stirred Saturday night by a report that a young girl had been kidnapped and carried away. This story spread with great rapidity and was a topic of conversation in the neighborhood over the past week-end. The facts of the case as disclosed by an investigation by State Troopers are that a young woman, Mary Lo Cascio, who resided with her folks near Obolville, apparently had Apparently, the girl came friendly with a man, said to be considerable older than she, who had come up from New York and was working in the locality. The investigation disclosed that there was some opposition by the parents of the girl to her keeping company with the man and as a result the couple met on Saturday night and left for New York. The girl, said to be about 20 years old, was located in New York in company with the man and the man was located in New York.

The investigation disclosed that there was no attempt to kidnap the girl and she willingly accompanied the man to New York apparently for the purpose of being married because of objections which had been made by her folks to the meetings at Louisville. The two met in New Orleans Saturday and from there went to New York where, after an alarm had been sent out, they were located.

"State Enemies" Drive Shows Gains of Nazis Against Their Critics

Berlin, Aug. 27 (AP).—The activity with which the Nazi party is fighting adverse criticism was disclosed today in a report of the swiftly mounting toll of arrests of "state enemies."

Berlin newspapers generally avoid these accounts, but in provincial communities, without benefit of propaganda ministry watchmen and Nazi chiefdoms, journals daily issue "warnings to state enemies" and record the detention of persons accused of acts and words unfriendly to the party.

Tearing down placards often means several weeks of imprisonment, remarks about Reichsfuehrer Hitler bring mysterious "protective custody" by secret police.

An evangelical clergyman, the Rev. Herr Poetter of Swinemunde, was taken into protective custody because he closed his confirmation class to Nazi youths who played hooky from Sunday school. His act was considered a criticism of the youth leader.

Assistant Pastor Mariefeld of Wietzken was ordered to leave his parish because he allegedly declared "one doesn't obey a bishop who offends against the Bible and the faith."

Wilhelm Nagel of Relabek was sentenced to six months for failing to salute the Nazi flag.

In Stettin, a special court sentenced Frank Frobel of Bransorge to six months in prison because he spoke against the labor front "although he had the impudence to wear the Nazi insignia."

Friedrich Stehl made "insulting" remarks about Der Fuehrer and the cabinet and was sentenced to 15 months in jail.

Max Liesel of Tuetzpatz was given six months to "think over" his efforts to convince the Hitler youth of the fallacy of Hitlerism and to defame the Nazi flag. In Regenwalde, a man was fined 600 marks for telling a beer party "a stupid rumor" he heard in Berlin.

Otto Diebel of Gellin was sentenced to three months for recounting frivolously certain thinks "every honorable compatriot considers holy" about the Nurnberg party convention.

Italy Could Float War for 8 Months

Paris, Aug. 27 (AP).—Mussolini's gold is drifting abroad, but French financiers asserted today he could finance a war with Ethiopia for eight months.

They agreed he could lose half the present gold without a dangerous strain on the Italian currency system. But they foresaw difficulties if the war should be prolonged.

Realizing that ordinary rules do not govern dictatorships, they cited Germany, where Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, kept the mark stable with only a 2 per cent gold coverage on currency while Italy has 36 per cent.

The bank of Italy's last statement on August 10 showed 5,057,044 lire in gold (about $313,538,000). If half that is sent abroad, bankers estimate that Italy can finance a war for eight months.
